August

The 117th Congress passed and President Biden signed into law transformative legislation, including the Infrastructure Investment and Jobs Act, the Inflation Reduction Act, the CHIPS and Science Act, the PACT Act, and the Bipartisan Safer Communities Act, and more. Together with Congressional appropriations, these represent investments and opportunities for our communities and our future.

This monthly newsletter provides a guide to some of the funding opportunities that these landmark laws have made possible and other opportunities for federal funding and resources.

New Resources

- SAM (System for Award Management) registration is essential for entities seeking to engage in business with the U.S. government, as it ensures eligibility for federal contracts, grants, and cooperative agreements. It facilitates smooth payment processing, maintains transparency, and validates business information to prevent fraud. Additionally, it provides access to federal business opportunities and ensures compliance with federal regulations, making it a critical step in government-related business activities. To ensure your organization is compliant and for more information, please click here.
- Writing a well-crafted proposal for competitive federal grants is crucial for securing funding for projects. It demonstrates the applicant's understanding of grant objectives, alignment with agency priorities, and ability to execute the project effectively. A compelling narrative highlights project significance, feasibility, and potential impact, while addressing evaluation criteria. A strong proposal boosts reviewers' confidence in the applicant's preparedness, significantly enhancing the chances of winning the grant amidst intense competition. We recommend reviewing "How to Develop and Write a Grant Proposal" by the Congressional Research Service to maximize your grant application success. For more information on developing a grant proposal, please click here.
- The Environmental Protection Agency's Environmental and Climate Justice Community Change Grants Program deadline is November 21, 2024. Eligible entities interested in receiving technical assistance to prepare and develop their application for the Community Change Grants Program must submit a complete technical assistance intake form by August 16, 2024.
